FOR A LASTING PEACE

PRESIDENT PAYS HOMAGE TO NATION'S HEROIC DEAD

PLEDGED TO OPPOSE ALL FUTURE CONFLICTS

Harding at Arlington Amphitheatre Depicts Horrors of Carnage and Points Out Duty of America to the World.

Arlington Memorial Amphitheatre, Va.—Beside the graves of America's war dead, President Harding recommitted himself to his pledge to unite America with other nations in a plan for preventing future wars.

"This is a world relationship we cannot avoid and will not avoid," the president declared.

The president spoke in the great white amphitheatre here in Arlington National Cemetery, beside the tomb of the unknown soldier.

The scene and the day, he said, recalled the day he stood on the pier at Hoboken two years ago, among 5,000 World war dead.

"Under the spell of the great sorrow which gripped my heart," said the president, "I said then and repeat now it must not be again! It must not be again!

"But the saying is not enough. We must do the things which rational thinking leads us to believe tend to render war less likely. If we ever have the insanity to make war among ourselves, we will deserve to sacrifice, but that must never be. Searching our own intent, we can see no cloud on the horizon. We are thinking of no war for us, anywhere. But there was no cloud for us in 1914, and yet we went down into the very cataclysm of all wars. It is not enough to seek assurance for ourselves.

"I believe it a God-given duty to give your influence to establish the ways of peace thorughout the world. We cannot guarantee, but we can promote the peaceful adjustment of disputes, we can aid in the establishment of the agencies of peace, we can be influential in committing the world to the triumphs of peace, and make hateful to humankind the spoils of war. If we have been successful as the exemplar of democracy there is a duty to perform in pointing the way and influencing the adoption of democracy's peace."

"In all the wars of all times, the conscienceless profiteer has put the black blot, greed, upon righteous sacrifice and highly purposed conflict. In our full recognition of today in exalted consciousness that every citizen has his duty to perform, and that his means are his country's in time of national peril—in the next war, if conflict ever comes again, we will not alone call to service the youth of the land, which has in the main fought all our wars, but we will draft every resource, every activity, all of wealth, and make common cause of the nation's preservation. God grant that no conflict will ever come again, but if it does it shall be without profit to the non-combatant participants, except as they share in the triumphs of the nation.

"It will be a more grateful nation which consecrates all to a common cause, and there will be more to share the gratitude bestowed. More, there will be a fine consciousness in our war commitments and that sublimity of spirit which make a people invincible."

The president said that while the gratitude the nation expressed to its soldiers was most genuinely felt and most gladly expressed, real gratitude consists in action rather than words.

"My thought is not of compensations or of pensions or of the government's care for the disabled. These are obligations and their discharge is a duty. There can be a gratitude of action which is a still finer and nobler thing.

"It is the gratitude of action, which has so zealously committed us to preservation of the civilization for which the World war veterans fought, and the task is only a little less difficult than theirs. Civilization can never be entrenched, it must battle in the open, ever ready to march on.

"In the inspiration of the example of you who have thrice saved the republic and firm in the belief of the righteousness of American intent and strong in the faith, we mean to carry on. I devoutly wish the United States to do its full part toward making war unlikely, if not impossible. While I would abhor a pacifist America, I would rejoice to have the United States proven to be unafraid and yet the most peace-loving and the foremost peace-promoting nation of all the world. We have already proven that we can have less armament. Let us strive for the assurance that we shall have none of war."

The president told a handful of

DOYLE SAYS CALIFORNIA GREAT PSYCHIC CENTER

Moderate Climate and Air Vibrations of State Peculiarly Adapted For Successful Communication With Other World.

San Francisco.—California is destined to be the psychic center of the world and in her lies the hope of leading the way out of a great impending catastrophe such as history has never known, says Sir Arthur Conan Doyle, creator of Sherlock Holmes and internationally known exponent of spiritualism, while visiting in San Francisco.

"The moderate climate and air vibrations in this state are peculiarly adapted for communications with the next world," he stated. "Nowhere have I observed psychic conditions more favorable. In Los Angeles and San Diego, from where I have just come, we had remarkably good success in receiving messages from the dead spirits.

"I cannot help but believe that California will be the central point from which knowledge of the future world through the medium of spiritualism will emanate. This is just what the human race needs today. All are getting deeper into materialism and further away from the things of the spirit.

"This attitude will most certainly lead to death in the long run. We are now heading directly for perdition. It is time to stop and go in the other direction. I recently received a spirit message from a well-known English journalist whose name is familiar to all. It warned the American people: 'Don't be too busy; I have been busy, too busy all of my life.'

"I am certain there is a great catastrophe impending for I have been warned of it from many different and reliable sources. Just when it will occur it is impossible to determine, but it is coming soon—probably within our lifetime. The World war was the first rap on the knuckles to us. What is coming will be something far worse. It will be in the shape of an enormous destructive element of nature. Perhaps some such upheaval as caused the disappearance of the great continent of Atlantis aeons ago."

Sir Arthur declared that he is only interested in the religious side of spiritualism and is in no way concerned with the purely scientific phase. He disclaimed the possession of any pyschic gifts, asserting that they are not available for everybody. "I just give out what I learn through others who know," he said.

STATE WELFARE SECRETARY REQUIRED TO ITEMIZE REPORT

Sacramento.—That Katherine Phillips Edson, secretary of the State Industrial Welfare commission, must hereafter set out in her monthly claim of per diem the work she actually performed on the days of service and also itemize her traveling and general expenses, is the construction placed by the board of control on an opinion by Attorney-General U. S. Webb. The board has withheld the claims of Mrs. Edson for February, March and April on the ground that such statements have not been made in accordance with law. According to the board, Mrs. Edson has been charging $10 per day for her services and $3 per day for expenses until the total reached $300 per month.

BOYS FIND BOX CONTAINING 30 THOUSAND IN SECURITIES

Los Angeles.—A steel box containing securities with a face value of $30,000 was found by boys playing under a house at California street and Grand avenue. With the securities were private papers and a will, bearing the name of Ludga Gadette, believed to be a mining man of San Diego. The will was dated in 1921 and gave Gadette's age at that time at 66 years. The securities included many shares of mining stock.

The boys, Joe Maneillas and Russett Beechtel, turned their find over to the police.

551,000 In M. E. Colleges

Chicago.—Enrollment exceeding 551,000 is estimated for the current year at forty-three colleges and universities sponsored by the board of education of the Methodist Episcopal church. The increase is 5,000 students. University of Southern California has 7,500 students.

Civil war veterans who stood in the vast throng in the Amphitheater that "long after they are gone we will be gratefully remembering them and all succeeding generations will sing their glory. And every time we meet to memorialize and honor them, every time our successors meet to pay annual tribute, there will be a patriotic resolution in every grateful heart to be worthy of the heritage which they have left behind, each to do his part in the making of a greater and better republic, mindful of every obligation at home, unafraid to play our part.

ANNUAL RECEPTION GIVEN BY JUNIORS

The reception tendered the senior class of the High School by the juniors this year was given in the form of a dinner, served in the new gymnasium, Saturday evening. The room had been transformed with palm branches and ferns into a bower of greenery, strings of Japanese lanterns added a note of brilliant color, and the tables were adorned with sweet peas and varicolored baloons, anchored to the table, swayed in the air.

An abundant supper including creamed chicken in patty shells, ice cream and other delicacies was served to the hundred odd guests. At the conclusion of the banquet a program of music and toasts was enjoyed. A male quartet from the College of Pacific sang and one of their number played piano selections, as did also Stanley Stocker of the junior class. Irving Townsend acted as toastmaster and toasts were responded to by members of both classes and by Mr. D. H. Cramer representing the faculty, who together with the trustees and their wives were also present as guests of the juniors.

All those who were present spoke in highest praise of the entertainment which was quite an innovation and represented a great deal of work on the part of the young people.

CLASS NIGHT TUES.

The Annual Class Night Exercises of the Campbell Union High School will be held next Tuesday evening, June 12, at 8 o'clock, in the auditorium of the High School Annex.

The Senior Class this year is the largest that has ever graduated from the Campbell Union High School. There are thirty-one members, nine girls and twenty-two boys. The Class prides itself in its share of school honors and the interest taken by many of its members in athletics, dramatics, Student Body affairs, and other school activities.

The public is cordially invited to attend these exercises.

Students at Tennis

The Campbell boys tennis players representing the high school were defeated by San Jose Friday afternoon on the latter courts. They lost first and second singles, Bert Matteson and Sam Reed playing, and Sam and Breck Reed lost second doubles but Stanley Stocker and Bert Matteson came out victorious in first doubles.

The girl racqueters at the same time won from the Santa Clara girls on the local courts—Anna Lund, first singles; Ruth Miller and Wilma Smith, first doubles; Wanda Bly and Lorraine Suggs, second doubles, and Marie Fammatre, lost second singles.

SCHOOL NOTES

Campbell got third place in the track meet. Third place does not sound very good until you know that there were ten schools competing. We are very glad to have gotten third place this year and expect to take first place next year.

Campbell was proud of its pupils who took part in th eposture parade of its band, which led the parade and of the school banner.

The eighth grade is arranging graduation plans.

We are all looking forward to June 15, as that is the date of the school picnic.

Almost every day at this time of year there is some athletic events to record. Saturday was field and track meet for the County rural grammar schools.

The Willow Glen boys quite outscored their competitors, but the girls were more evenly matched, Campbell girls winning third place.

Mountain View girls baseball team won the championship by defeating Campbell in a hard fought game, 14 to 11.

FATHERS' NIGHT AT SCHOOL CLUB

The Home and School Club adopted a new and very pleasant way of celebrating Fathers' Night. Tuesday evening they served a sumptuous supper in the cafeteria of the C. U. G. S. which is admirably adapted to such occasions.

Tables were set in a large U and were lavishly decorated with sweet peas and a wonderful variety of Shirley poppies.

About seventy-five partook of the supper and then moved to the kindergarten room where the program was held.

Mrs. R. Alison, in the absence of thepresident, Mrs. C. H. Davidson, welcomed the fathers and invited their attendance at any of the meetings.

The roll call showed more parents of the kindergarten class present. All of the districts were represented.

Principal E. J. Cuthbertson and Vice-principal J. T. Allan made a few remarks, interspersed with a number of humorous stories. Miss Katharine Wood played three beautiful piano solos, which were highly appreciated. They were:

(b) The Horn-pipe, by Handel, arranged by Percy Grainger; (b) Cradle Song, by Palmgren; (c) Paraphrase of Riggoletto by Listz.

Claud Altman, of Sunnyvale, gave a very good impersonation of a spinster lady in "Her First Auto Ride" and also recited a "Midnight Murder". One of our beautiful singers whose voice is not heard as often as we wish, Mrs. H. M. Shadle, favored the company with two numbers, "Slave Song," and "Spring Song" by Oscar Wilde.

Mr. Farr's talk on "How to Train Children in Obedience" was very sincere and full of good advice based on experiences in his home and those where he had visited.

At the close Mrs. Alison introduced Mrs. S. N. Hedegard, the newly elected president of the club, who thanked the fathers for their part in the evening's entertainment and invited them to come again.

The whole evening was a crowning success to the year's work of this group of busy earnest women who work untiringly for the welfare of the children and the school.

MORE WATER FOR VINELAND

The State Railroad Commission has handed down a decision in the matter of the application of the San Jose Water Works and The Vineland Improvement Club to fix rates to be charged the Vineland District under the new system to be installed there, at the request of the club.

The water supply in that territory has been very inadequate and unsatisfactory and the residents got together with the San Jose Water Works which supplied that section and arrived at a very satisfactory arrangement, but necessitating a re-rating to which all have agreed.

A ten inch main will be laid in Los Gatos on University Avenue, continuing with a 6 inch pipe on Cypress Avenue and Santa Cruz Road to a reservoir located outside the city limits of Los Gatos.

From this point an 8 inch line will be laid to the junction of San Tomas, Aquino and Pollard Roads, continuing from this point with a 6 inch line on Pollard and Little San Tomas Aquino Roads to the junction of the latter with Hazel Avenue. The plans further provide for the installation of 2-inch pipe as is required in the territory served.

The Commission heartily commends the co-operation of the members of the Club with the Water Co. in making plans and agreeing to change in rating, and the work of improvement will probably be under way ere long.

OUR LEADING INDUSTRY

The growth of population, industry and wealth in the United States are subjects frequently paraded, but we have overlooked the real phenomenon, which is the growth of government. Americans are perhaps the most governed people in the world, says the Yakima, Washington, Daily Republic.

Nation, state, county and city all bestow a share and take a share of tribute.

And government makes a business for itself. Whenever we see it, we see itgrowing, expanding, reproducing itself. Whenever a seed of it falls, in soil however barren, it shoots up and flowers, a full blown plant, almost overnight.

Millions of Americans live on government; derive their support from the organizations society has formed to collect and spend the public revenues, to make and enforce laws and to administer the common affairs.

Government, then, is a leading American industry, a contemporary concludes. No other industry receives and spends such a revenue, employs such numbers or contributes so little to the national wealth.

Probably America will have to find a way sometime to check the growth of government, or it will monopolize the soil and choke all other growths. The wealth-producing industries cannot keep with it. Senator Smoot has said that if Congress sets up a new government bureau with three officials and $25,000, it will, within a very short time, grow to 20 times that size and require a million dollars.

To have more government than we need is just as wasteful as to prepare more food for dinner than we can eat.

THE COURSE OF PRICES

Some financial authorities predict higher prices, perhaps rising well toward the peak of 1920. But the public groans as it looks back to that high stepping period. It realizes from various aches and bruises that the joy riding of that time landed the country in the ditch.

Perhaps the farmers, who had to take extremely drastic deflation, are entitled to some further recovery in their returns from certain staples. If they can get it through better delivery systems rather than by taxing the consumer, everybody will be better off.

High prices check trade. There are always people whose incomes can't keep pace with increases in living costs. Millions of these folks declared a buyer's strike in 1920. The profiteering elements learned that while the American consumer has a very broad back, there are limits to his endurance. Load him too heavy, and he grits his teeth and sets his feet into the ground with a balky and wicked look in his eye.

The high prices of 1920 were caused by public extravagance, high cost production, and the profiteering spirit. When a producer finds the people shouting for his highest priced stuff faster than he can shove it out of his factory, he would have to be almost an angel not to tack on a little additional percentage as a means of calming the popular excitement.

If the prices of 1920 are repeated in 1923, the depression of 1921 will probably recur in 1924. But the folks who had to sell their diamonds and fur coats in order to buy soupbones, have thought a few thoughts since that time, which tend to promote a certain degree of useful caution.

The merchants are doing their best to keep prices reasonable. The public can help. One way in this community is to watch the advertising in the Campbell Press. Those who advertise are good folks to trade with, and they help keep the business machine running normally by a policy of quick sales and small profits.

GLARING HEADLIGHTS

And what has become of the old fashioned car driver who used to dim his glaring headlights when passing another auto? Two or three years ago huge sums of money were spent in buying new lenses which were supposed to prevent glare. Every car had to be equipped with the new lenses, and it certainly sounded like a sensible idea. It worked satisfactorily to a degree, but the idea seems to have been lost sight of. Headlights are more glaring than ever, and the custom of dimming has become a lost art.

The way it is now, when two cars pass at night, there is a certain space during which the drivers can only hope that they are on the right road, or that no obstacle is directly in front of them. It seems to the Press that the laws regarding headlights should be strictly enforced. There seems to be no reason why the cars should not be equipped with lights which will not blind the driver of an approaching car. And the courtesy of dimming might also be revived with no harm resulting.

THE TAX MENACE

From almost every state in the West comes the plea of industry for tax reduction.

Practically every western state is loaded with a political overhead which would not be justified by ten times the population.

Every public official denies all responsibility for the increased tax burden and says, "If the people vote these measures what can I do?"

Admitting without argument that the people are to blame for all tax burdens under which they stagger at present, what is to be done about it?

Obviously if the people are responsible for the tax increase it is up to the people to see that they get tax reduction.

When tax reduction is suggested the present beneficiaries of our tax system say it simply cannot be done but the fact remains that it must be done.

Private industry has reduced expenses all along the line to meet changed conditions and government must adjust itself to a more economical basis in the same manner as the individual and business has done.

The man who fights for tax reduction today is often held up to ridicule and calumny by those who prey off the present tax system and pay little or no share toward the burdens of government.

The power of present political parties will be overthrown unless they join willingly in the campaign for tax reduction.

Thus will experimental political parties gain power as result of public unrest. Progressive western states are pressing programs of retrenchment for cutting down their overhead of taxation from 25 to 30 per cent.

Lumber production in the United States has been steadily decreasing for 13 years, in the face of a need unparalleled in history of our Country, according to a bulletin by the Department of Agriculture. Of 37 Eastern and Southern lumber producing States, 36 showed a decreased cut and only one a slight increase in 1920; while Pacific Slope States all report substantial increase.

The Business Men's Association

UNITED in a strong association of over thirty members, the business men of Campbell are now banded together to help forward the cause of community welfare. The general public is interested, and will wait expectantly for results.

Only good can be looked for from this new organization. Local business of all kinds depends for its growth on bettering local conditions. Home business men stood for school consolidation, they backed the campaign for a new library building, and they can be relied upon to help any other worthy cause in the future. Organization, however, enables them to be more aggressive, to start community betterments on their own initiative.

The question of good roads, for instance, is bound to be a live topic with business men. The cleaner town idea, too, will unquestionably have their support. These subjects are only examples of the many things that help business and are also a source of satisfaction to the entire population. Business welfare and community welfare go hand in hand.

Then, sooner or later, something will come up at the instance of the business mens' association on the subject of doing business at home. And why not? Business does not come to Campbell from San Jose, or from other towns around about. It comes from the people of our town and from nearby farmers, our natural geographical community Unless we of the community stand up for our own, nobody else will stand up for us. And the more we uphold our own, the more outsiders will give us their respect. They will say of us, "Campbell? Yes, that's a live-wire town!"

Ford

ANNOUNCEMENT

OF INTEREST TO

Millions of Families

"I will build a car for the multitude,"

Said Henry Ford in 1903—Read how the fulfillment of that prophecy is now made possible through the

FORD WEEKLY PAYMENT PLAN

For many years it has been Henry Ford's personal ambition to make the Ford the universal family car—to put it within the reach of the millions of people who have never been privileged to enjoy the benefits of motor car ownership.

And now the way is open.

Under the terms of this plan you can select your Ford car, set aside a small amount each week, and you will be surprised how soon you will own it. In the meantime your money will be safely deposited to your credit in one of the local banks where it will draw interest.

Think it over. Five dollars will start an account. The whole family can participate in it—father, mother, brothers and sisters each doing a little.

Why not start today. Stop in and talk it over with your local Ford dealer. He would be glad to fully explain the details of the plan and help you get started toward the ownership of a Ford car.
